COMMON APPROACHES TO VALUATION

Income Approach

The Income Approach measures the value of an asset by calculating the present value of its future economic benefits. When used to determine Business value, the Income Approach develops an indication of value by discounting forecasted cash flows to their present value at a rate of return that incorporates the risk-free rate for the use of funds plus the expected rate of inflation and the risks associated with the particular investment. The discount rate applied to these expected cash flows is generally based upon rates of return available from alternative investments of similar type and quality. Another discounting method calculates the company's Weighted Average Cost of Capital ("WACC") from its cost of debt and cost of equity. Forecasts typically cover three to five years, but the reliability of forecasts for valuation purposes in early stage enterprises depends upon many factors, such as the company's vulnerability to advances in technology, actions by competitors, changes in end-user requirements, & the availability of financing. Selecting the forecast period required our judgment.

The Income Approach works best when development stage companies have progressed to Stage five. Typically, companies in prior stages have limited operating histories and cash flow forecasts. Using the Income Approach when a company has not achieved profitability or positive cash flow, and therefore has negative flows/losses during some or all of the forecast years, results in an equity Value that consists mostly (if not entirely) of the Terminal Value ("TV" is the estimate of the Company's future value at the end of the forecast period).

Market Approach

The Market Approach measures the value of an asset through an analysis of recent sales of comparable property compared to the property being valued. When applied to the valuation of an equity interest, consideration is given to the financial condition and operating performance of the subject company compared to either publicly traded companies with similar lines of business or recent corporate acquisitions ("Guideline Companies"). Typically, the companies selected for comparison are subject to economic, political, competitive, and technological factors that correspond with those confronting the Company.

The Market Approach is conceptually preferable to the other two approaches both because it uses direct comparisons to similar enterprises and because the analysis is based upon actual market transactions. However, comparables that fit perfectly rarely exist. Privately held companies are compared to publicly traded ones that are typically further along in their stage of development, have superior access to capital, and have common stock that is readily marketable. Often historical results of public companies are being compared to projected results for the private company being valued. In order to reflect these differences, data from the Guideline Companies must be appropriately adjusted.

Asset Approach

The Asset Approach measures the value of an asset by the cost to reconstruct or replace it with another of like utility. When applied to the valuation of equity interests in businesses, value is based on the net aggregate fair market value of the entity's underlying assets.

This approach basically entails a restatement of the balance sheet of the enterprise in which the fair market value of its assets and liabilities are substituted for their book values. This approach is frequently used to value holding companies or capital-intensive firms. It is typically not an appropriate valuation approach for growing operating companies which provide goods or services and which have significant intangible value. The same may be considered in conjunction with other approaches with lower weight age.

Sources of Information: The valuation was performed as per following information:

- Statement of Divisional Assets and Liabilities of demerged company
- Business profile of MIL.
- Draft Scheme of Arrangement

SUMMARY OF SHARE ENTITLEMENT RATIO PERFORMED BY GBN

GBN has, inter alia, mentioned in their report:

“Based on the aforementioned and that upon demerger, the set of shareholders and holding proportion being proposed for BCL is identical to that of MIL, the beneficial economic interest of MIL shareholders in BCL will remain same at the time of demerger.

We believe that the above share entitlement ratio is fair and reasonable considering that all the shareholders of MIL are and will, upon demerger, be the ultimate beneficial owners of the Resulting Company and in the same ratio (inter se) as they hold shares in MIL, as on the record date to be decided by Management of MIL.”

CONCLUSION

CONCLUSION ON SHARE ENTITLEMENT RATIO BY GBN

The entitlement ratio as recommended by GBN is "One equity share of INR Ten each as fully paid up in BCL for every one equity share of INR Ten held in MIL;

It is noted that the Share Entitlement ratio was arrived at assuming that the Resulting Company and the Transferor Company will continue in operation in unhindered manner for the future as at present on a pre demerger standalone basis (going concern).

The assumptions considered in the determination of the Share Entitlement ratio are appropriate and reasonable for the subject companies.

Subject to the assumptions presented herein, in our opinion the Share Entitlement Ratio derived by GBN is fair considering circumstances and purpose of valuation.
